

General Meeting

11/17/2020

Animal of the Week: Greater Sage-Grouse (Centrocercus urophasianus)

- Often times only one or two males are picked for mating ; most females mate with the same male
- The male sage-grouse can hold a gallon of air in their pouch in their esophagus
- They have a specialized stomach to digest sagebrush
- They gain weight over the winter by eating sagebrush leaves and snow
