

Hey zoo keepers and zoo creepers,

Tonight we had guest speaker Olivia Spagnuolo come to talk to us all about Spotted Hyenas! Olivia is a graduate student working in Kay Holekamp's Hyena lab and she gave us a lot of information on research and on her personal experience with Spotted Hyenas. The recording of today's zoom will be posted down below and I highly recommend you give it a little looksie.

As an appetizer for our Hyena filled night, we also learned a little bit about the Ocelot (leopardus paradalis). Ocelots chuckle and mutter to communicate, they are picky eaters, and they used to be quite common in the USA.

If you haven't paid your dues yet please do so soon. It's 30$ for the year or 20$ per semester. You can venmo us at MSU ZSA.

We have a fundraising opportunity going on right now. Collect and return cans and bottles independently and venmo MSU ZSA with the money you get from the returns. All the proceeds will go to the Dian Fossey Gorilla fund international a non profit working to conserve and protect gorillas in Africa.

As Always our we meet every Tuesday 7-8pm <https://msu.zoom.us/j/99362011129>
