

Seatbelts Everyone (ZSA members),

Today we had a chill zoom meeting watching the magic school bus aka one of the best educational kids shows ever. We'll keep the meeting minutes short tonight since Thanksgiving break is fast approaching.

The animal of the week is the Andean bear also known as the spectacled bear. These four eyed cuties are the only bear native to South America. They build platforms and nest in trees and it is unknown how long they live in the wild. We rate the spectacled bear a 4/10 because according to google they are the least aggressive bear and often shy and calm. the score would be lower. They are still bears and could kick us to next week if they really wanted to.

We will be selling bracelets next week which will help protect sharks. They are 18$ each and we will take orders next week.

Memes of the week:

LINCOLNSHIRE WILDLIFE PARK

Zoo Separates 5 Parrots After the Birds Were Caught Encouraging Each Other to Swear At Guests

Have a good Thanksgiving break!

Love,

Your ZSA E-board