

Hello, my creepy crawly friends,

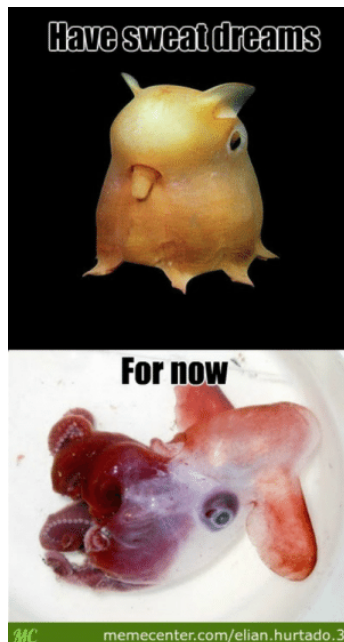

Tonight we had Dr. Amanda Lorenz come to give us a virtual tour of the bughouse and talk all things bugs. If you want to contact her about working for the bug house or you just have some burning questions about bugs her email is Lorenzam@msu.edu.

I know you are all wondering about how the Nickolas Cage v. E-board fight would go down and the results are in. In a regular fight, the Cage master would win but in a fight to the death, the E-board would crush him. For this week we have opted not to fight the dumbo octopus as it is just too darn cute.

Speaking of the dumbo octopus...it gets its name from the Disney movie Dumbo due to its ear-like fins. This cutie lives 4,000 meters below the surface and due to the great depths it lives at it has almost no predators. It doesn't even have an ink sack due to no one wanting to put in the effort to go get it for a snack.

If you are still looking for that hot girl summer job experience look no further than the FW job board or the IBIO hands-on database.

Annica's meme corner:

Say creepy friends,

ZSA E-Board